To Our Clients & Our Community,

Now, more than ever, we see that our lives are a gift and a blessing – not to be taken for granted. The COVID19 global pandemic has proved to be a time that should not be squandered only in worry and fear, but in gratitude and thanks for the blessings we do have.

We need to take pause to take in our lives around us – whether it be our spouse, our child, elderly parents, or our four-legged friends – you will find the strength to get through this tumultuous time. It is these individuals who comprise our family unit – and it is this family unit that needs to be protected and preserved in this moment. It is undeniable that, throughout the ages, the family unit (however your family unit is made up) is a constant. This is your defining moment to fortify the strength of your family.

Amidst all of the damning COVID19 news, leaders are trying to lead, newscasters are trying to report, and communities are trying to spread the word – but the impact of these messages is much deeper than we know. COVID19 is now a marker in history, and this is your moment to lead. Lead your family unit with strength, positivity, and, above all, love.

You will inspire your descendants to value love, self-sufficiency, confidence, and cooperation within the family and the larger community. Your children will one day tell stories of this moment in history to their kids and their grandkids and speak of how their parents were brave, worked through this moment with grace, without worrying, and in the end it only strengthened their relationship with you.

To this day, I tell my children stories of their Great-Great-Grandfathers. One of these great men was a prisoner of war during World War II for seven years. His family thought him to be dead. My Great-Grandfather made it out alive and his family unit lives on to this day in my own blood. Another of these men was a pioneer traveling from India in a wooden ship to the unknown promise of America in 1911. Against all odds, this man made it to the United States, persevered and succeeded. He too built a family unit whose strength runs through my wife's own blood.

You are currently writing the next story amidst COVID19. Lead your family. You rule your kingdom; the media, the government, and the economy do not. Rule with dignity, grace and strength.
